

The Justice Appointment.

Yesterday the Board of County Commissioners appointed Charles Witherall Justice of the Peace to succeed Mart Gaize who resigned on account of sickness. The appointment of Mr. Witherall gives satisfaction to a majority of the citizens of Carson, irrespective of party. Mr. Witherall has held the office two terms before and has a thorough knowledge of its duties, coupled with ability and fairness. He assumes his duties at once.

ALL SORTS.

—Wizard Oil at Geo. Thaxter's.
—Hallock will have at least 300 majority.
—Dr. Lee's case will come up on Wednesday.
—Judge Mesick is in the city attending to Court business.
—The election being over, everything is settling down to the old basis.
—Hock Mason was in town yesterday. He "calls him Jewett, now."
—The Chicago strikes have a serious aspect, and bloodshed is imminent.
—Although Adams was defeated, all hands concede that he made a game fight.
—Doc. Herrick's Secret Boycott Society is now organized and ready for business.
—The anti-Chinese fizzle on Saturday night has caused a broad grin all over town.
—The rumor of a rich strike in the Voltaire arises from a decided improvement in the ore.
—James Townsend has taken charge of the Index, succeeding Mr. Drury in the editorial chair.
—Thaxter & Bicknell have opened their new store with a new lot of goods and a big run of custom.

—Garrard has left the Democratic party, and vows that he will have only genuine Mugwumps in the Mint.
—There was an alarm of fire yesterday caused by the burning of some old rubbish at the south end of the city.
—Governor Elect Stevenson was in the city yesterday, accepting congratulations on all sides. He wears his honors modestly.

—Mrs. Knowles, the artistic milliner, has returned from her Eastern trip, loaded down with new finery for the Winter gaities at the Capital.

—Now that the election is over the best thing the contending factions can do is to cool down and pull together for the prosperity of the city.

—Trial proves that honesty is the best policy in medicine as well as in other things. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a genuine preparation, an unequalled blood purifier, decidedly superior to all others.

—Any one who wants old papers can secure them at this office by carrying them away. About half a ton of exchanges have accumulated during the campaign and they are piled so high that it is with difficulty that the editor can reach his table.

Eye Knocked Out.

News was received here last night that in a dispute over politics J. A. Blossom hit J. N. Finley, the Democratic candidate for Assembly who gave Williamson such a close rub, and had knocked one of his eyes out. The story as we hear it is about this: Blossom and Finley were discussing the political situation, and becoming excited the lie was given, whereupon Blossom struck Finley a heavy blow on the face which knocked Finley's eye out. Dr. Huntsman was telegraphed for and left this morning to attend the injured man. We are very sorry for both gentlemen that this unfortunate occurrence has happened.

Since the above was in type we learn that the blow from Blossom's fist did not knock Finley's eye out, but burst the eyeball. Finley was taken to San Francisco this morning for treatment. —Neville.

The Illness of Mart Gaize.

Mr. Mart Gaize was taken down sick immediately after the election and is so low that his recovery is considered doubtful. He has been failing for some time and attacked by a sort of general debility and lung troubles.

In view of this fact he resigned his position as Justice of the Peace. He received the largest majority on the Republican county ticket and his severe illness will cause universal regret in this city where he has resided so many years.

SEEN FROM A BROAD.

The Salt Lake Tribune Speaks a Good word for Nevada.
Charley Goodwin in the Salt Lake Tribune says.
The Herald seems to have a particular bitterness toward Nevada. It either knows nothing of what it purports to publish or maliciously misrepresents matters. So far Nevada has had five Senators. The first two were Nye and Stewart, Nye never had a dollar, and Stewart was elected in war times, when there was not enough money in the world to have elected a Democrat. Then came Jones, who spent a good deal of money, but it was all useless. He would have been elected if he had not possessed a quarter. The second and third terms he was elected with out money for he did not have it. In the Sharon campaign a great deal of money was used, but at the same time the best men in the State supported Sharon without money and he was the best candidate in the field. The only fault of that campaign was that because of Sharon's money, and candidature, able men than he in his own party, who were entitled to the place, were excluded. Fair was elected because his partner, a Republican, turned the weight of his influence and money in his support. The campaign this year has not been a moneyed fight at all. The real contest was on the Governorship, and no charge of a corrupt use of money on either side so far as we have seen been made. There are about 1000 corruptible men in the State. The rest are as true men as ever lived in any State. Where parties are so very nearly evenly divided 1000 can turn the scale. But though this is so, it would require more money to carry little Nevada in a political fight, than it would to carry either Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, New Jersey, or either of half a dozen Eastern States. Finally, the Herald should remember that while it may be possible that there are men in Nevada that are so depraved as to be willing to sell their votes, the worst of them would not vote a ticket because commanded to by a priest. Utah will have to be revolutionized before it ever reaches the plane of freedom on which Nevada now stands.

Political Medicine.

Some men's stomachs are so constituted that they are unable to take any political medicine without making a wry face. Men who have fed on enervating political pap for years so weaken their stomachs that a small dose of political medicine makes them yeli with pain so that their howls attract the entire neighborhood. These men are chumps, and ought to be marked as such by everyone. Again, you find men whose political stomachs have been fed on such poor pasturage and coarse rations that they have become rugged, and can stand any kind of medicine that is dished out to them. People who go into politics must be prepared to take all kinds of medicine, and must also bear in mind that every other man who runs for office gets left, and that out of 100 men who want offices not over two get them.

The Administration Sat Upon.

The New York Tribune, editorially says:

The verdict of the people on President Cleveland's Administration and nearly two years of Government by the Democratic party is distinctly unfavorable. President Cleveland came in with a majority of over forty members of the House to sustain him, with 42,909 majority in his favor in this city and about 49,000 in New Jersey, and with a plurality in Connecticut. After two years, the election of a Democratic Mayor in this city is made possible only by votes of Republicans. New York State has probably given a plurality of votes to the State ticket opposed to the National administration. Democratic members of Congress have been beaten in such numbers that it is uncertain whether the Republicans have not a majority in the House; and the election of Republican Senators is assured in New York and Nevada, and probably in California.

INTERCEPTED CORRESPONDENCE.

The Other Letter Written by Senator Fair.

The publication of the letter written by Senator Fair some weeks ago, declining to run for the Senatorial office, has been published by Major Garrard.

It has caused a general howl of disgust among the Democrats of the State, who all along were fooled into the idea that on election day Fair would come in on the rush and snow everybody under. The Democrats were told to keep up the fight, and at the needful time Fair's sack would buy up all the voters in the State.

The hungry sack followers who hung about the polls all day waiting to be approached, finally concluded, in disgust at Fair's treachery, to vote the Republican ticket just to get even.

It is now an open secret, however, that Fair wrote two letters at the same time, in order that the one which best fitted the case could be made public after election.

A gentleman high in the Democratic party, who asserts it on positive knowledge, says that Fair wrote two letters, in one of which he says very nearly as follows:

"I will accept the trust once before imposed upon me by the people of Nevada, as the representative in the Senate of the United States, of a State for which I shall always cherish the tenderest recollections. I do not seek the office, and shall only accept it by virtue of the spontaneous will of the people, whose respect I shall esteem more than any office in the world."

Our informant quoted the above from memory, and of course may not give the exact words, but they are almost verbatim. If the existence of this letter is denied, the APPEAL is informed that it will be furnished with the rest of it. Had the Democrats carried the Legislative ticket the first letter would have been burned, and the one from which we have made a positive extract, published.

Goodman and the Campaign.

J. T. Goodman and R. M. Dazgett, who have been doing editorial work on the Enterprise during the campaign and Arthur McEwen who was "standing them off" on the Chronicle, all left for California as soon as the election was over.—Free Lance.

Mr. Joseph Goodman did not contribute a line to the Enterprise during the campaign. He wrote one editorial after his arrival. It was a perfectly dignified article but written in such forcible English that the proprietors concluded it was rather too heavy for publication. In dealing with the records of certain men it struck hard, and every line was like the sweep of a cimeter wielded by a giant.

Mr. Goodman said if that editorial did not go in, he would write no more.

A few days later the writer saw him in Virginia City. He was covered with dust, and had just walked up from Gold Hill. "If I can't do head work for the party" he said "I'll do foot work."

He had been tramping all over the lode from Cedar Hill to American Flat rousing his old friends the miners for Stewart.

His personal canvass had great weight, as all knew that his head was level and his heart sincere.

The APPEAL believes from the reports which come to us of his work that he won the legislative fight in Storey. A good earnest man in such a crisis is better than gold.

The Stevenson Family.

Nevada has elected Hon. C. C. Stevenson, Governor. He is a miner, and during the past twenty five years has paid the men in his employ $3,000,000. He is a careful and sagacious business man, and is thoroughly honest. He will make a clear-headed, conservative Governor, and there will not be a man of any party who will not feel that the office is in safe and competent hands. He is a brother to Governor Stevenson, of Idaho. The Idaho Governor says his brother is a good man but "a little off"; that years ago he ran away with the heresy of Republicanism, thereby casting a cloud upon the family escutcheon, and that he has never rallied since. The Governor elect of Nevada can now wire the Governor of Idaho and say: "I see you, and raise you." —Salt Lake Tribune.
